BUILDING Administration	ROOM NO. 332
REMARKS: Norm:  As Kirk has probably told you, Frank Wisner and [REDACTED] expressed some concern about this proposal at the Deputies' Meeting on Friday, 16 March, and I believe that Mr. Dulles is awaiting their comments before making up his mind.  I think it will certainly do a lot of good if the security aspects of the trips are well handled. I regard the cover of [REDACTED] to (over) be very important. (I am not sure that General Cabell and Mr. Dulles are as concerned about this as I am, however.)

From a security standpoint, wouldn't it be better to make these invitations orally and not have four letters floating around on the Hill?

I agree with you that it would pay dividends to have one member of each of the staffs included in the invitations.
